Question	Response
What, if any, survey information will be provided by Great Springs Project? Or is the consultant to provide all base + mapping data for the project?	It is not anticipated that survey information will be available for this study, nor is it believed to be necessary to successfully complete the project. Should survey information become available during the study, Great Springs Project will share that information with the selected consultant team should it be prudent. Regarding base and mapping data, it is anticipated that this project will rely on freely available data layers, including internal and/or proprietary data created and managed by Great Springs Project.
Has an inventory been performed to identify all properties that will be impacted by the project? Or will the selected consultant team be responsible for conducting this inventory and establishing a stakeholder list	Great Springs Project and its partners will have the primary responsibility for establishing a stakeholder list.
Are there any guidelines or limitations as to how the Bureau of Reclamations WaterSMART grant dollars be utilized?	Grant funds can be expended on reasonable expenses necessary to execute the study in accordance with Great Springs Project's grant agreement with the Bureau of Reclamation. In the event that the selected consultant suggests--and GSP endorses-- an expense that could potentially be ineligible, GSP would be responsible for confirming the eligibility of that expense with Bureau of Reclamation staff.

For the section requesting resumes for all assigned personnel, which also asks for the percentage of time allocated to each task in the Scope of Work, are we allowed to include full-page resumes and a bit more detail beyond the paragraph description? Or are there specific limitations we should follow in terms of length or formatting?	We are not requesting resumes for all assigned personnel, we only ask for a paragraph summary of qualifications and experience. You should not include resumes, GSP does not anticipate that the committee will have time to review them. One electronic document no more than 10MB should be submitted.
